Dear [FNAME] [LNAME],

There's still time to take advantage of the early bird registration offer for this year's ISUOG World Congress, which will be held in London, UK, from 12-16 October 2019. In Berlin, a full day of comprehensive, educational sessions will be dedicated to gynecologic oncology, with experts in the field presenting their latest findings and discussing best practices in the field. Ultrasound is a critical tool in surgical planning and the management of patients with gynecologic malignancies, making this a must-attend event for anyone working in this field.

On 29 November 2019, London, UK, and live globally - Ultrasound in Obstetrics and Gynecology (in Chinese) will provide a comprehensive overview of the latest developments in ultrasound and its applications in obstetrics and gynecology. This meeting will cover a wide range of topics, including the role of ultrasound in the diagnosis and management of common obstetric and gynecologic conditions, as well as new technologies and future directions in ultrasound imaging.

For registered attendees, a record of all sessions will be available for one month after the event. The Organizing Committee welcomes China to the ISUOG community and looks forward to working with the Chinese delegation to promote ultrasound education in China. The ISUOG office in China will be based in Beijing and will be an extension of the ISUOG secretariat.

This exciting new program offers the chance for ultrasound training institutions to request to run an ISUOG satellite course! This initiative provides an opportunity for ultrasound training institutions to increase their educational value.
